Coconut Producers’ Society

Even though Co-operative movement is deep rooted in many of the coconut growing States, most of the coconut farmers are unorganized even now. As such the efforts taken for increasing the production and productivity of coconut from small and marginal holdings are showing poor results. It is felt that a movement in the nature of Society of small and marginal farmers will help improve both production and productivity. With this objective in view the Board has come forward to encourage the farmers to form Coconut Producers’ Societies (CPS). The Board anticipates that these Societies will collectively enter into procuring, processing and marketing activities. The Board is planning to unite the small and marginal farm holders and to register them under the Charitable Societies Act.

Benefits of CPS for farmers.

1. Enables the farmers to practice scientific farming practices.
2. Opportunity to the farmers to be get acquainted with new technologies in production, plant protection, processing and marketing.
3. Opportunity to reduce cost of cultivation through group activities.
4. Making available quality planting material, fertilizer, pesticides etc. at reasonable price.
5. Establishment of small and medium scale nurseries.
6. Financial assistance to establish organic manure units and copra dryers.
7. Better opportunities for marketing.
8. Participation in study tours, exhibitions etc..
9. Procurement, pooling and marketing of tender coconuts.

Prospective future benefits

1. Priority for financial and technical assistance for establishment of coconut processing units.
2. Better facilities for marketing their own products.
3. Opportunity to establish medium scale units through the Federation of Societies.
4. Opportunity to export coconut and coconut products through the Societies, their Federations and Producers’ Company.
5. To act as recognized copra/coconut procurement agency at the time of Price Support Scheme Operations of the Government.
6. Opportunity to create Producer Companies wherein the CPS or their federations would be the share holders. These companies can invest in projects requiring high investments using technical and financial assistance of the Board.
Who can be member?

Those farmers who are having at least 10 bearing palms can be a member of the CPS. All coconut farmers eligible as per the said norms should be enrolled as a member of the CPS of his/her area. There can be around 40-100 farmers from a contiguous area. The operational area of each society must be demarcated by natural/geographic boundaries. The societies would have to be registered under the Charitable Societies Act. The admission fee will be Rs.100 and the annual subscription is Rs.20/-.

The societies should not have any political interests and should function democratically. An executive Committee comprising an elected President and Six Executive Committee members shall govern the Society. Such societies should be registered with the Coconut Development Board. Prior permission from the Board should be obtained for making amendments in the bye laws of the Society.

An application in prescribed form shall be submitted along with the following documents for registration of CPS.

1. True copy of the certificate of the Registration made under the Charitable Societies act.
2. A copy of the bye law and Memorandum of Association of the Society.
3. Minutes of the meeting which took the decision to register the Society with the Coconut Development Board.
4. Details of the members in the prescribed form.
5. Neat & clear self prepared sketch of the operational area of the Society.

Societies found eligible for registration with the Board shall pay Rs.200/- by way of demand draft drawn in favour of the Chairman, Coconut Development Board, Kochi-682 011 payable at Ernakulam/Kochi. The validity of the registration shall be two years. Societies should renew their registration at least one month before expiry of the registration by paying Rs.100/-.

Application for registration as CPS with the Board should be submitted to

The Chairman, Coconut Development Board, Kerabhavan, SRVHS Road, Kochi-682 011
